For the final time this term!

The FASS Theatre Company of the University of Waterloo gregariously presents, for your amusement and rehabilitation, its eighteenth annual musical comedy:

Days of Future FASS

directed by

Jim Gardner

February 6, 7, 8, 9, 1980

"I would like, if I may, to take you on a strange journey..."

—Rod Stirring

This audience will be recorded in front of a live show.

Warning: This show meets and exceeds the CRTC ruling regarding Canadian content; however, except for Act II, Scene 2, Line 32, it is only available in English, or a reasonable approximation thereto.

Caveat: The characters and events portrayed in this show are purely fictitious, and bear no resemblance to real people or places whether living or dead, no matter how hard we tried to make them so. In particular, the Arts Library does not represent the Arts Library, the ELP is not the English Language Proficiency Program, a BIU is not a Basic Income Unit, and the PRG are not the University custodians.

Intermissions: There will be an intermission after the play which will last as long as you want it to. There might be one during the play if the stage manager remembers it. If there is, we must ask that you not throw peanuts at the actors.

Notice: You can't smoke in the theatre or gallery because the fire marshal doesn't want to be responsible if you get lung cancer. You can't eat or drink refreshments in the theatre or gallery because the theatre management does not want to contribute to anyone's obesity. You won't be allowed to use cameras during the performance because it might frighten the gerbils. You can't use your tape recorder either; the script is copyrighted by the people we stole it from. Thank you for observing these rules. Violators will be dressed as bananas and fed to H. Mungus Ape.

University of Waterloo

Rating: This show has been refused an R rating by the censors (maybe they haven't seen it yet), and is currently rated I: for immature audiences only.

The FASS Company

We are Faculty, Administration, Staff, and Students, and this year there are over a hundred of us. Last year, many of us sat right where you are tonight and wondered how we could become part of an annual musical comedy, now in its eighteenth year, poking fun at life here at UW. We heard that FASS was a collection of fun-loving amateur acting and backstage persons specializing in creating new friendships while writing and staging a farcical, dramatic, satiric, musical comedy the first week of every February.

Now it is our turn to invite you to join us! We are an independent, self-supporting group; profits from ticket sales finance next February's show as well as providing equipment for the Theatres. Becoming part of FASS is as easy as attending the annual general meeting in September, or auditions in January, or scriptwriter meetings anytime! Watch for FASS posters!!

Intermission

If we do remember to have an intermission, this is where it should be. If you absolutely have to leave the theatre before this time, please raise your hand so that our spotlight operator can pick you out more easily.

(p.s. We know where you're going...)

You may now use the rest of this page for doodling during the intermission, if there is one. If there isn't, something drastic has happened and you likely won't care, now will you?
